

As it used to be in 1920s, serving the immediate community of the Beach Village
 Photograph by Malcolm R White

A recent photograph of Christ Church Lowestoft with the blue sky above, which we often see here in the East.

Christ Church

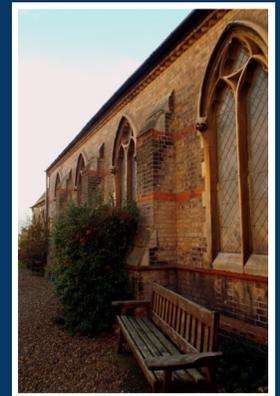

Whapload Road

Whereas Christ Church was once surrounded by the Beach Village, see left, now it finds itself virtually in the middle of an industrial estate, dwarfed by Gulliver, the biggest wind turbine in the UK.

Photograph by Monica Brewster, taken from the top of the nearby Police Station .

View down the side of the church with memorial seat to Hazel & Matthew Boardley by Janice & Graham 2003

Christ Church Centre

Herring Fishery Score

Foundation stone laid in April 1892 by S H Fosbery Esq, on the corner of the building

